

CERIBELL, INC.

Clinical Trial Transparency

Ceribell is committed to upholding the highest level of integrity and ethics across all clinical trials and investigational programs, including the timely and transparent disclosure of clinical trial information and results.

All Ceribell-sponsored Phase 2 and 3 clinical trials in the United States are registered and publicly posted on ClinicalTrials.gov to promote transparency and accountability. We make summary results publicly available within 12 months of study completion, in accordance with applicable regulations and industry best practices. To ensure participants remain informed, study results can be provided directly to trial participants upon request. In addition, Ceribell seeks to share findings from its clinical research broadly by submitting abstracts or manuscripts for publication, regardless of study outcome or regulatory decision.
